MOVICKER'S THRATER BURNED. A $500,000 Fire in Chicago.-One Fireman Killed and Several Hart.

Carcago, Angust 26:-- Fire was discovered in Mc Vicker's Theater on Madison street between State and Dearborn streets at 3:30 this morning. As for as con-be learned it originated in the small smoking room under and to the west of the stage. The dry and inflammable material of the room furnished food for the blaze and it a moment the fierce flame burst out through a side window in the alley. As soon as the firemen arrived on the scene they directed the stream of water through the window from which the flames were coming. The feared badly damaged the valuable scenery of the "Shenandoah" company now performing in the building. The tire made unexpected headway in the interior of the building and in thirty minutes after its discovery made its way apparently enveloped the whole building and at a few minutes before 4 o'clock were leaping from all the windows on the west and east sides of the theater. When it was seen what rapid headway the flames were making additional help was summoned and every effort was directed to saving the front portion of the building, where a number of offices are located. Nearly every occupant of the building is a heavy loser, although none of them carried heavy stocks. The tlames burst from the rear of the building with such fury that they extended across the alley and threafened lestruction of the Windsor European Hotel, Many of the guests of the hotel were awakened and a panic resulted. People hastily grabbed their clothing and made their way to the street. There was no occasion for the fright, however, as the firemen guarded the hetel so well that the firmes had no chance of communicating with the building. Panic also seized the guests of the Saratoga Hotel and Bennett House, but the flames did not reach either of Av 5 a.m. the Chicago Tribune building was ou fire and the flames spread from the rear of the McVicker building across the alley east, doing considerable damage; and also south to Monroe street. Chapm & Gore's liquor house and Bennett Hotel cought fire. The loss will probably approximate $500,000.

Seven men belonging to the fire insurance patrol No. 1 were in the auditorium at work when the roof fell in shortly after 4 o'clock. They all examed by a miracle. Not so for

They all escaped by a miracle. Not so for-tunate were the men who were fighting the fire in the rear of the building. When the rear wall fell all the men of No. 7 were buried in the ruins. The firemen were more or less hurt and fireman Jack Duffy had his skull fractured and will probably die.
The total loss to the theater building and its occupants is estimated at over $200,000. Horace McVicker, the proprietor, says his own loss will reach over $100,000. Several stores on State street caught fire, but the flames were soon extinguished and the damage will be nominal. ANOTHER AND MORE GRAPHIC ACCOUNT.

Cuicago, August 26 .- McVicker's Theater morning. The west wall of the building, reachterrific crash into the narrow alley. John Duffy, a pipeman of engine company No. 7, came down with the debris and landed fairly on his head with the debris on a jagged pile of mortar and brick. He was fearfully mangled and probably fatally injured. Duffy's comrades on the roof barely escaped with their lives. They heard the wall cracking and ran to lives. They heard the wall cracking and ran to the cenfer of the roof just as the great mass went down. They subsequently escaped to the street by means of a fire escape.

The fire started in the basement of Lithgow's saloon, which occupies the west helf of the building, and smoidered among piles of straw and liquors nearly an hour before it was discovered. By that time flames had burst through the light departs. the basement windows. When the fire depart-ment arrived everything under the big theater, including dressing rooms, stage paraphernalia and beggage, was ablaze. The fire was burning so derecive that a second battalion of engines was called out, and it required all they could do to keep the flames from eating a path into the upper stories of the building. As it was, the fover and the chairs in the parquette circle caught fire at one time and blazed brightly antil four or five streams of water were turned or the fames. The firemen chopped gaping holes in the floor and tore down the costly hangings that ornamented the main entrance and even broke through the stage in their anxiety to save the building. Before they got through the theater proper was nearly ruined. IT WAS A FIRE TRAP.

The loss to the theater and building will not be less than $125,000. The entire interior of the theater is practically destroyed. What with water, smoke, and the use of axes, which atter was rendered necessary to reach the basement, the theater will have to be entirely rebuilt and renovated. That it was a fire trap was shown from the way the flames ran through the whole structure. Everything in it burned like a finder box despite all the firemen could

Five companies of firemen who had been stationed near the main entrance barely escaped with their lives. The brave fellows were pushing through to the stage when they heard a loud creaking above their heads. They instantly retraced and had barely gotten outside into the lobby when the roar of the falling galleries and dome told of the destruction of theater. W. Miller, a truckman, and another fireman were also injured, but not fatally. Fireman Daffy, who came down with the falling wall, it cafed to several small hotels in the immediate vicinity, but did no serious damage. The guests were panic stricken, but all escaped in safety. All the front offices of the building received little damage except by water, and the tenants will confinue to do business at their old stands. Mr. McVicker is now at Saratoga. His son and manager says the theater will be rebuilt and respond inside of thirty days.

A COLORED MEN'S CONVENTION. Slight Possibility of a Colored Candidate for Congress Against Gen. Lee.

LEESBURG. VA., August 26. - Delegates to the eighth Virginia colored republican convention, to be held at Purcellville, are already arriving, and a full representation is expected. The meeting was called by the executive committee of the colored republicans, which met at Falls Church last month. The call for the convention was signed by F. C. Green, acting chairman, W. C. Reeves, secretary, and was approved by J. H. Harrison, chairman of the executive committee. The purpose of the convention is to consider the educational, financial and political status of the colored people of the district. Each county is entitled to ten delegates and three alternates and Alexandria city to fifteen dele-gates and five alternates. It is expected that here will be about one hundred and twenty defegates in the convention. The action of the convention is looked forward to with much interest on account of the nearness of the congressional campaign. It is not thought likely that the convention will put forward a candidate for Congress, but it will probably indorse some white republican, although it is known that some of the delegates favor the nomination of a candidate.

There has been no call as yet for the regular republican convention, to nominate the candidate to run against Gen. W. H. F. Lee, who was nominated last week, although such a call will in all probability be issued in a few days, and it is thought that a good man would get the EXCITING RACE IN THE SENATE. Mr. Stewart was Almost Sure of Success, but Mr. Rengan Slipped on Ahead.

There was quite an interesting race in the Senate this afternoon. Irrigation was being discussed and Sepator Allison was making an explanation of the action of the appropriations committee. The Senstor spoke at more length | Out of repair! than was expected, and the latter part of his speech was lost to a good many Senators and to all the occupants of the press gallery because they were watching Senators Reagan and Or John L. The former arose to his feet several times during Senator Allison's speech, believing each time that the Iowan was about to conclude. Mr. Reagan's anxiety to secure the floor first was also evident, but he did not get up until the proper time. His head moved steadily and, at the rate of one movement in three seconds, from Senster Allison to Senster Ingalis. Both contestants realized that if the other was first recognized no one could prophecy as to the day on which he would conclude his remarks—the surveys might be completed and the reservoirs built before that time. At last it was evident that Mr. Allison was about to close and Senator Stewart once more got up and extended his right arm in the direction of the presiding officer. In that position he stood, with his lips apart, waiting for the deflected fone that should mark the end. Mr. Reagan had both hands on the arms of his chair, his head had ceased moving toward Mr. Ingalls and he watched only Mr. Allison. By this time everybody except the official stenographers was intent on the race. The last word came and then the Texan sprang from his chair and said: "Mr. President."

The agreement between the democrats and republicans to postpone the federal election bill and dispose of the tariff promptly was perfected in the Senate this morning. Mr. Plumb withdrew his objection to the proposition of Mr. Aldrich and unanimous consent was seoured. A vote on the tariff bill on the 8th of September gives promise of an adjournment the first week in October. and, of course, settles the election bill for the present session. · Something may happen to prolong the session, but the election bill will not be benefited by that. The republicans have agreed among themselves that at the next session, whether in December or two weeks earlier, the bill shall be taken up and shall be considered day after day to the exclusion of everything else. The whole time from the day of their reassembling until the 4th of March may be consumed without considering any other measures. It is as-serted now that even the appropriation bills will not be allowed to interfere, and it may happen that on the 4th of March none of the appropriations for the succeeding fiscal year will be made. The conditions are such as to make it just possible that there may be two extra sessions within a year—one before and one after the regular short session. But those who are counting on devoting so much time to the election bill will remember that the reapportion-ment comes in some time during this Congress.

FOUND DEAD UNDER A TREE The Last Rest of Thomas Johnson, an Aged Stone Catter.

Under one of the large oak trees in the grove not far from the Baltimore and Ohio freight vard, near Eckington, yesterday several persons noticed an old man apparently resting himself on the green grass. Several times during the day he was seen and, although he remained in the same position for so long a time, no one who saw him suspected for an instant that he was dead, supposing that he had faid down and gone to sleep. This morning, however, when Mr. Perry Miller saw him still in the same position he knew there must be something wrong and went over to investigate. To his horror he discovered that the man was dead and from the discoloration of his face and

Without making any further examination he sent a telephone message to the police, and Officer Oliver soon moved the bedy to the morgue in the sixth precinct patrol wagon The remains were those of a man apparently fifty-five or sixty years old. His clothing in dicated that he was a working man. From the position and appearance of the body it was evident that he had not been murdered, and the officers thought that he had either died from natural causes or had committed suicide. Among the articles found on him was a Bible, in which was inscribed,

"Thomas Johnston, Edinburgh, Scotland," He also had a pocket atlas, a comb, spool of cotton, needles and a two-ounce vial of lauda-num. The vial was almost filled, and if the deceased had drank any of it he had not taken more than a teaspoonful.

THE BODY IDENTIFIED. After the body was taken to the morgue it stone cutter, who had worked at McLeod's yard Schaeffer was notified and an examination of the body will be made this afternoon to determine the cause of death.

JUDGE CHRISTIANCY DYING. A Life That Was Shadowed by a Great

A Lansing, Mich., special to the Philadelphia Press today says: Hon. Isaac P. Christiancy, exchief justice of the supreme court of Michigan. ex-United States Senator and ex-Minister to Peru, is dying at his lonely home a broken down ruined man. The story of his life is a sad one. Few men in the state ever attained higher honors, He had rare fearning, perfect probity and an unblemished reputation, until his unhappy marriage late in life with a young and pretty Treasury girl in Washington. His misfortunes date from that day. His case is a striking example of how short a step it is from honorable fame and political success to total obscurity. Ten years ago Judge Christiancy was a prominent figure among American judges and diplo-mats. Now he is dying almost in poverty, and very few people outside of Michigan can call his name unless it be in connection with the scandal which caused his retirement to private life. For the last month he has suffered in tensely from a cancer near the roots of the tongue, and the hopeless old man will welcome death. Indeed, for several years he has stated that he had nothing left to live for, and the regret he expressed last spring when his lifelong friend. Chief Justice Campbell, passed away, was that he should be left behind white men still in the prime of their usefulness were

A FOUNDER OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY. Judge Christiancy is now seventy-eight year of age. He was born in Johnstown, N.V., but removed to Monros, Mich., in 1836. Here he lived for a score-of years, rising from the ranks of struggling young lawyers to the position of one of the most widely-known attorneys in the new state and gaining additional prominence as the editor of the Commercial. From 1841 to 1846 he was prosecuting attorney. In 1848 he was one of the leaders in the free soil convention at Buffalo, and state senator in 1850-51 and free soil candidate for governor in the following year.

He was one of the founders of the republican party and a delegate to its first national con-vention in Philadelphia in 1856. In 1857 he was elected justice of the Michigan supreme dourt, and was re-elected in 1865 and in 1873, serving three terms at chief justice. In 1875 he resigned from the hench to become United States Senator, and two years later resigned that position to accept the post of United States minister to Peru. The death of his first wife left him with several sons. It was not long after his election to the United States Senate that his Michigan friends were startled at the news of his marriage to Lillian Lugenheel, a bewitching young em-Lillian Lugenbeel, a bewitching young emplaye of the Treasury Department. He brought sing to arrange for his journey to Peru, and his friends did not wonder that the dignified jurist had lost his heart. His young bride, with her petite, rounded figure, auburn hair and dazzling complexion, was a rare beauty.

FFRALLY DEVORCED. Not long after the minister went to Peru grave stories were told about the young wife's conduct. It was said that she soon tired of the minister and had transferred her affections to a young lieutenest with whom she had been fascinated before meeting the Senator and who had boldly followed her from Washington to Peru. The scandal culminated in an exposure. Before the expiration of his first year in Lime Mrs. Christiancy returned alone and gossip was again revived. When Minister Christiancy returned to the United States after a change of dministration he applied for and secured

Mrs. Christiancy became insane. One cold night in December she was found wandering in the streets of Washington arrayed enly in a thin night dress. When taken home it was found that she had managed to escape from the house without alarming the family, but how she had done so neither she nor they could tell. She was very ill for some time fol-lowing.

On December 13, 1883, she died a maniac Brooklyn. For several months she had been staving at the residence of Dr. Dapre under her maiden name. A physician, who was called to treat her for failure of the eyes, discovered her mental condition and also her identity. It was believed that she had become crazed by chloral and was killed by the drug She was twenty-nine years old. The mesal-liance and the divorce bent and crushed the aged judge, and he was a changed man ever

Soon after this came the robbery of $20,000 worth of diamonds from Judge Christiancy in a hotel. They had been intrusted to his care by a Peruvian friend. No trace of the missing gems could be obtained. The spirit of the judge was absolutely crushed by the series of disasters. He retired from public life and has passed his days since in absolute obscurity, although engaged in literary labors most of # time. During the last ten years Judge Christiancy's passion for whist playing has been his
